GOLD AT MORINVILLE.

A piece of gold worth about 50 cents was found in the gizzard of a domestic chicken killed at Morinville on Saturday evening last. The chicken belonged to Jos. Lajoie who owns the South-west half of 18-55-25-4. Mr. Lajoie had been digging a well and at a depth of about 18 feet gravel and water were struck. The water rose so rapidly that only a few shovels of gravel were taken out before work had to be abandoned. It is supposed that the chicken picked up the gold from amongst this gravel. The piece of gold is about the size of a pea, quite smooth and rounded, and somewhat darker than Saskatchewan gold. Mr. Boissonault, father in law of Mr. Lajoie, who has had some experience in mining will prospect the ground for gold. J. H. Picard has the piece of gold and is having it set on a pin for Mrs. Lajoie.

AN OLD TIMER DEAD.

John Foley, an Old Timer in Edmonton, died suddenly on Saturday evening last on his own door step in the west end of town. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from the fire hall to St. Joachim's church, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery. There was a large turn out at the funeral.
Deceased has been a figure in Edmonton for so long that no one seems to know his age or when he came here. It is certain that he has resided here for at least 50 years, but how much longer is not known. He was born in Ireland. Came to Canada and lived for a time in Montreal, and Ottawa, then by town. Entered the service of the Hudson's Bay Company and served that company at Edmonton and Lesser Slave lake for a very long period. He has been out of the H. B. service for 24 years. He has one son and several daughters. His age is supposed to be about 90 years. He was able to get around town and care for himself to the very last. Indeed he was just returning from spending the day down town when he fell dead.

EGG LAKE.

Very little interest was taken in the prohibition vote here last Thursday owing to the farmers being so busy over harvest and also probably because no active efforts were put forth by either the anti or the prohibitionists. Mr. Rottot, in his official capacity as deputy returning officer, was on hand, however, and gave good satisfaction. Prairie fires are quite numerous around here now and if not put out serious damage will result. Complaints have been made about fire guardians being careless in seeing that they are put out. As the law stands now the guardian gets no remuneration for losing his time running all over the country to warn out settlers, and when the fire is not in his immediate locality he can hardly be blamed for being somewhat backward in going around to warn out people who in many cases seem to think that he has no business to take them from their work to put out a fire. If they were paid for their lost time and a penalty attached for failure to comply with their duties it would be satisfactory for the fire guardians and also for all others concerned. A political meeting in the interest of Mr. Gairdner was held at Mr. Huggman's last week when the electors present were addressed by Mr. Smith, of the Sturgeon, and by Messrs. Scott and Fraser, of Egg lake. It is expected that the candidates themselves will shortly favor us with their views on the political questions of the day.

.. OUR FALL OPENING ..

Was a grand success, and we had a full house. The people came, they saw, and they were captivated. It was a genuine surprise to everyone to see the magnificent range of goods that were shown for the Fall and Winter trade. Every department was full to overflowing and each seemed to offer special inducement to buyers.

The stock of Dress Goods shown is very large and much superior to the ordinary, and the lady would be very hard indeed to please that could not find something to suit, and something new, as among the better lines no two dress pieces alike. Trimmings of all kinds to match.

The Mantle Cloths also commended themselves to our many visitors.

The large display of Ladies' Felt Hats, Tam O'Shanter, Fancy Wool Hoods, Clouds, Scarf Ties, Eiderdown Cloth and Fur Jackets, Underskirts, Wrappers, Dressing Jackets Gowns and Underwear. Fall Blouses and Shirt Waists in Flannelette, Cashmere and Silk. Muffs, Neckruffs, Corsets, Veilings, Ribbons, Gloves, Hosiery and the hundred and one other articles and nick-nacks that go to beautify the home and adorn the person; all those and much more won the admiration of the throng of visitors, and, as was remarked by many, reminded one more of Simpson's or Eaton's than Edmonton. But Edmonton is forging ahead, and we are leading.

The Men's Department is equally as interesting as the ladies', and the stock is large and new.

THE FLEBISCITE.

The voting for and against prohibition went on quietly during Thursday in town and country. In Edmonton Thos. Houston was deputy returning officer, Joe Kelly, poll clerk, D. Evans and T. P. Cairney scrutineers for prohibition, and Jos. Hostyn against. There were no teams out and a very moderate amount of rustling was done upon either side to get the voters out. There were 256 votes cast out of 510 on the list. Of course the list contained more names than were actually available, as no active measures had been taken to secure its correction, that not being important under the law, as it stands. The 500 names on the list probably represented a possible vote of 400. Of the ballots cast 124 were for prohibition 121 against, eleven spoiled. The spoiled ballot papers were mostly marked with the word yes or no. As seven were spoiled by being marked no and four by being marked yes or its equivalent, if the apparent intent of the voter were considered the vote was a tie. The vote was fairly large considering that there had been no very active canvassing, or before-election excitement. The anti-prohibitionists turned out much more strongly than was expected. Just what were the ideas which prompted the several voters it is hard to gather. There was a very general mix up. Temperate men voted against prohibition and intemperate men for it in some cases. People divided on their individual opinions without regard to their associations or personal actions. A good many did not vote, not because they were not interested, but because they had not decided conscientiously what they should do. Although the large anti-prohibition vote is somewhat of a surprise, it is more satisfactory to have it recorded than that it should remain an uncertain quantity. Had only prohibitionists voted it might easily have been claimed that all who did not vote were against it. That argument cannot be held now. The anti-prohibitionists as well as the prohibitionists, therefore those who did not vote can fairly be divided between the two parties. They certainly cannot all be counted for either one or the other. What is the case in Edmonton seems to be the case throughout the country. A much stronger interest was manifested on both sides than was expected. Although the prohibitionists did not have the walk over they expected, the result is far more satisfactory as an expression of the real sentiment of the people. Edmonton, Calgary and every village on the line between, except Wetaskiwin, gave a majority for prohibition. Most of the country settlements peopled by Canadians and Americans were overwhelmingly for it. Where it chiefly failed in this district was in the French and German settlements. The returns of the polls in the Edmonton district received so far are as follows:

	Yes.	No.
Edmonton,	124	121
South Edmonton,	118	40

DOMINION CREEK.

Reports have been current in the papers for some months as to the course taken by the authorities of the Yukon regarding mining claims on Dominion Creek. At the same time very few outsiders have any very clear idea of what took place. The BULLETIN has interviewed Mr. Frank Mariaggi, who has just returned from Dawson, on the subject. The following is his statement of the case:

When gold is first discovered on a creek the prospector locates his claim as "Discovery," and claims subsequently located are numbered consecutively above and below "Discovery." That is, the discovery claim is the starting point for the location of all other claims. The discoverer gets a larger claim than others, in recognition of his enterprise and as an encouragement to prospecting. For some unaccountable (?) reason two discovery claims were allowed to be recorded on Dominion Creek, and claims were numbered above and below from both of them. Soon the claims between the two discoveries began to overlap and A who had located say 25 below upper discovery found that B who had located 31 above lower discovery was located on the same ground as himself. This condition of affairs came about sometime during the fall of '97 or the succeeding winter. The gold commissioner then decided that no further claims would be recorded on the creek until a survey had been made for the adjustment of the disputes that had arisen and to prevent mistakes in future and that staking done while the books were closed would not be recognized. Finally a notice was posted that after a certain date, say July 11th, claims might be staked and recorded, but that only the claims of those who had received a permit from the office would be recorded. The prospectors at once concentrated their attention on securing permits before the 11th. Some four days before the date fixed for the creek to be thrown open, or say about the 7th, Mr. Mariaggi was informed by a friend that the creek would be thrown open next day without permit. He did not believe it; but during the afternoon saw a number of men leave town in the direction of the creek with packs, evidently intending to remain over night. On the morning of the following day notice was posted that the creek would be open at ten o'clock to be staked and recorded without permit. At ten o'clock on that day the parties who had gone out on the afternoon or night of the previous day staked their claims and came in to record them, so that those who only left the mining recorder's office after the notice had been made public met their secretly informed rivals coming in to record their claims, and found that they were left.

If the facts are as stated there is no escape from the conclusion that first the large mass of prospectors were deceived by the first proclamation fixing a date and requiring permits, and that second the bulk of the remainder were side tracked by information improperly given out from the office. The conclusion that this was done intentionally and for money is irresistible. To quote Mr. Woodworth, it proves that the administration there was either corrupt or imbecile.

GRAVEL RIVER.

The Hamilton Herald, of Sept. 23rd, publishes the diary of Harry Atwell, of Hamilton, while travelling from Chipe-wyan to Norman. The party left Chipe-wyan on July 3rd. Reached Smith Landing on the 6th, Fort Smith on the 14th. Reached on the 23rd, Hay river on the 24th and Big Island on the 26th, Simpson on the 28th, and Gravel river on July 2nd. The idea of the party was to go up Gravel river and get across to the Macmillan by a route which they had heard was travelled by Indians. They tracked up the river three miles in five hours and gave it up. They were told that from Fort Norman they could reach a point 60 miles up the river by 30 miles of travel overland and decided to take that route. Reached Norman on July 3rd. On Friday, July 8th, D. Gardiner, E. French, J. Cassel and an Indian guide started across country for Gravel river to prospect, taking two weeks grub and tools. The Indian was paid 150 skins for the trip, a sack of flour being 50 skins, a pound of bacon or a pint cupful of tea or of sugar being one skin. The prospecting party returned on the 18th, having run out of provisions. They said they had travelled 85 miles through muskegs, dry river beds, over mountains on their hands and knees and through rapid water hand in hand to avoid being washed off their feet by the current. They had found a good winter trail to the Macmillan, which was about 250 miles by trail from Norman. They saw a mountain of salt, clear as ice, and lots of very rich copper, but not gold enough to pay. French and Gardiner, of the party, decided to remain at Norman until winter and then cross over to the Macmillan. Between Gravel river and Fort Norman coal seams begin to show in the banks of the Mackenzie, from one to ten feet in thickness, and continue all the way to Fort Norman. One place has been burning ever since it was first seen by Alexander Mackenzie 100 years ago. Hunter, Richmond and Complin, of the Hamilton party of last year, and Findley's and Phillips parties remained at Gravel river intending to ascend it, if possible.

WHEAT.

Saturday, Sept. 24th: Portage la Prairie 56c, Brandon 56c, Moosomin 52c, Regina 51c, Moose Jaw 56c, Morden 54c, Boissevain 55c, Pilot Mound 56c, for No. 1 hard. Total wheat receipts on that day 110,000 bushels.

It is announced that a cut of 15 per cent in freight rates between Ontario and the maritime provinces has been made by the C. P. R. Has the competition resulting from the entrance of the Intercolonial into Montreal anything to do with this reduction? It is not a part of the Crow's Nest bargain.

ST. JOHN MAIL.

Messrs. Livingstone and Greer, mail carriers, arrived from St. John, Peace River, on Wednesday with about 100 letters from parties along the route. They left St. John on the 12th inst., and came in overland with pack horses. They were accompanied by Miquelon and Shea, who have been freighting to the Peace, and by Glover, a Klondiker, who returned from 200 miles above Graham. About 30 men were at St. John, on their way to Graham and beyond. A party of six who followed W. P. Taylor's trail to the Liard will be in a few days. They reached the Liard, but in attempting to cross on a raft were swamped and lost their entire outfit. On the way up Livingstone tracked up the Peace from the Crossing to Dunvegan and met on the way about 20 prospectors returning by the water route. All those who left St. John with horses are going through and making good time, but those who had boats are having hard work. About 50 men will winter in the vicinity of St. John. They are parties who have arrived there late. The parties beyond Graham have pushed on so far as to be almost out of communication from St. John, and word is scarce. The Gifford Bros. were at Fort Graham with canoes a month ago. The Manley party had sold their canoes and purchased horses. The Sunny South party were 60 miles west of Graham, six weeks ago. It was reported at St. John that the miners were making $10 a day on the Omenica. At St. John about 15 men were working and washing $2.00 a day. Farther up the river they were doing better, some making $3 and $4 a day. About 40 men were working on the river between Dunvegan and Hudson's Hope and many more strung along the river above that. Some parties were washing and prospecting on the Halfway river, with what result was not known.

Livingstone and Greer start out again on Monday, going only as far as Slave lake with mail and freight. They take out supplies for D. Allison and three other trappers who are wintering about half way to the lake. After this trip, which will occupy about three weeks, they will return to Edmonton and prepare to start out by dog train, taking the mail through to the parties who are beyond Graham.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN.

The rifle matches began here yesterday and will continue until Saturday. Less than one-fourth of the votes in this Division were polled yesterday. The vote stood 63 against prohibition and 27 for. At the manse, Fort Saskatchewan, on Saturday, Sept. 24th, by Rev. A. Forbes, the marriage took place of Charles Wamsley and Caroline Lamoureux, both of Fort Saskatchewan. The hotel here has changed hands. The new proprietor is expected to take charge to-morrow. The agricultural fair will be held here on Friday, 7th Oct. Sept. 30, '98.

A BEAUTIFUL DAY.

Communicated.
The day of our first communion is a "beautiful day," and leaves an everlasting souvenir in our souls, so much so that a great man, on whom fortune had smiled for many years, could say in all sincerity: "The most beautiful day of my life was that of my first communion!" Still the day of the first communion is not the only one of peace and happiness for a good Catholic. When for long years he has been separated, in a far distant country, from the church of his childhood's home, and from his devoted priest, with what inexpressible joy does he not assist at the blessing of a sanctuary where he will be able to practice his religion. How willingly he listens from ecclesiastical authority that for the future, he and his co-religionists will have a priest when they need his services, and one who will visit them as often as possible.

This happiness was realized by all the Catholics of Leduc last Sunday; and we sincerely thank all those who were the means of procuring it for us; especially his lordship, Bishop Grandin, and the Rev. Father Leduc, O. M. I., V. G. Sunday last was indeed a beautiful day in every respect, for the Catholics of Leduc. The weather was splendid; the sun seemed desirous of shedding a special lustre on our feast, and thus added new charms to our beautiful lake. We had the happiness of possessing in our midst Rev. Father Leduc, O. M. I., and Rev. Father Ethier.

Immediately before mass, Rev. Father Leduc, assisted by Rev. Father Lemarchand and Rev. Father Ethier, blessed the church, which was very nicely decorated for the occasion. Rev. Father Ethier sung mass, and after the gospel Rev. Father Leduc read a letter from his lordship, Bishop Grandin, addressed to the Catholics of Beaumont and Leduc. That letter, and the Rev. Father's explanations reminded us of our duties toward our parish priest, Rev. Father Ethier, and we hope, in accordance with the paternal advice of his lordship, to make our new priest happy in our midst by our kind treatment and generosity. The choir, consisting of Messrs. Bloudeau, Depassia, Fairbanks, Pignon, and the young girls of Edmonton, sang the mass with great enthusiasm and success, under the supervision of Mr. Bloudeau.

After mass a joyful dinner party was organized by Mr. and Mrs. Yeager, for the benefit of the new sanctuary, and about 3 p. m. took place a little concert, given by the singers already mentioned, under the direction of Mr. Fairbanks. We are sincerely grateful for their generous help. All the music and singing went off perfectly, but the Ave Maria, sung at the offertory by Messrs. Fairbanks and Bloudeau, deserves to be especially mentioned. The emotion felt by the assistants was so great that several persons were unable to restrain their tears. At first people thought they were sick and wished to take these persons to the open air; but later on, we heard that they were tears of joy and happiness. Therefore this day can well be called "A beautiful day."

Rev. Father Leduc is extremely grateful for the devotion shown by Mr. and Mrs. Yeager to make of this feast such a great success.

LACOMBE.

Political meetings are the chief items of interest just now. While all are looking forward to the plebiscite, still the local elections are of interest. When news came of the new electoral district it was at first thought Lacombe would be a part of it so it was decided to nominate a candidate. However, upon it being understood we were still in the Red Deer district and as not any person seemed to be anxious for legislative honors, it was decided to let Messrs. Spekeman, Greene and Simpson hold the field exclusively.

One of our young ladies Miss Mabel Hunt, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Smith, of Edmonton, on the 14th. They were married at the home of Mr. White and took the train for their future home. Miss Hunt will be very much missed in our socials.

Messrs. Markely and Neil, insurance agents of Calgary, made a short stop here last week. E. J. Reavey and wife left for Ontario on the 24th. The I. O. F. previous to their departure met at the home of D. C. Gourlay. D. H. C. R., and presented him with a very nice I. O. F. pin. The presentation was made after a banquet which was very much enjoyed by all. The free mason lodge, of which he was also secretary, presented him with a handsome seal ring typical of the order. These expressions of good will are strong testimonies to the popularity of our late citizen.

The co-operative society, limited, have purchased quite a large piece of land and have already commenced their store on Glass street. They intend to erect warehouses in the near future. Carpenters are in great demand and command good wages. Fred. Jamieson, student at law, Edmonton, is at home spending his vacation this week.

Rev. E. J. Chegwinn will arrive on the 28th, in time to participate in a large mass temperance meeting to be held in the town. Miss Olive Burris, arrived from Nova Scotia on the 21st.

Mr. Ogilvie and family arrived on 21st from Shubenacadie, Nova Scotia. He had a car load of effects, shortly coming. He purchased the McPherson farm. The owner of this farm had gone to the Klondike several months ago.

Three carloads of cattle arrived on the 21st for Mr. Gilmour. Messrs Sims and Parily, of Buffalo lake, made a business trip to the town a few days ago. One of the most dense fogs visited us one night last week. While coming to town with a load of lumber Mr. Clink lost his way and leaving his horses tried to find his way but lost horses and trail. After wandering several hours day light came and he was only a short distance from town. His horses having started on the same mission were found a few days later, having come out of the business without any apparent injury. The agricultural society contemplate giving a supper and entertainment in a few days. Sidney McLeod has gone away to attend business college. Sept. 21, '98.
